

Ike's Mideast Plan Gets Lift

Russia Warns U. S. A-Bases Imperil Peace

Allies Told They Risk Retaliation If Soviet Attacked

MOSCOW, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Soviet Government warned the United States tonight against setting up nuclear weapon and missile bases in other countries. Allied nations also were warned.

The government statement called such bases "bridgeheads for preparation for atomic warfare" and said they increased the threat of atomic war.

Countries permitting such bases would receive quick atomic retaliation, it said.

The statement was carried by the official news agency Tass after a day of similar warnings by the Soviet Communist party through publication in Pravda.

Seven Nations Singled Out

The statement singled out Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Turkey, Iran and Japan and told them that the U. S. plan put them in a place where they would be the first to suffer Soviet nuclear retaliation. It called on those countries to repudiate "these aggressive plans."

It accused the United States of trying to remove itself from threats of nuclear retaliation and said it would hold the United States and all countries cooperating with it responsible for any consequences that might arise from establishment of U. S. nuclear support commands overseas.

No U. S. Bases In Turkey

(In Ankara, a high Turkish defense official said his country has granted no bases to the United States. Large numbers of U. S. soldiers and airmen are based in Turkey as part of NATO's defenses.)

The Tass statement said the U. S. position that the bases are intended as defense outposts against possible aggression "is an attempt to mislead the public."

It added: "The leading circles of the Soviet Union are convinced that these other countries . . . will realize these aggressive plans are fraught with the gravest consequences and will repudiate them."

New Electronic Device Locates, Identifies Fish

CAMDEN, N.J., Jan. 23 (AP)—Radio Corporation of America today disclosed details of a device which does the next best thing to putting fish on the hook. It finds them electronically.

RCA's new electronic fish finder is designed to ferret out everything from sardines to whales, in depths of 3 inches to 500 feet. The portable device notifies the man behind the rod about schools of fish or a single trout.

The instrument also identifies the unsuspecting fish by size and type and indicates the most likely spot to dangle the bait. It works in fresh or salt water and is designed for use aboard pleasure craft and small fishing vessels.

Drinker Has Day In Court; Not Tipsy After 20 Shots

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—William C. Rose, a husky, two-fisted drinker, had his day in court today, fighting a drunk-driving charge. And what a day it was!

He guzzled down almost a pint and a half of whisky—20 shots of it—in about 4½ hours.

He played cards. "No stakes, you understand. We're in court." He read magazines and talked. He cracked jokes.

And sometimes he begged reprieve from the horde of newspaper photographers recording his every move.

Mostly, he drank. And waited. And drank some more.

He didn't get drunk. Not according to legal tests, anyway. But, as he put it, he was "having a ball."

After his 20th slug, the city drunkometer returned a reading of 122. A person is not considered drunk under the law until the reading hits 150, which means 150-100ths of 1 per cent of alcohol in the bloodstream.

Rose, a rather handsome 238-pound apartment house manager, hoped to prove he could hold a sizable quantity of whisky and still be in control of his faculties.

He didn't get an immediate ruling from City Judge Francis A. Sobieski, who said he'll probably hand down a written decision Friday.

Rose's bout with the bottle was a challenge of the city's drunkometer, which registered the 44-year-old Miami man at 246 the night he was arrested—Dec. 15.

TALKS BUDGET — Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey arrives at the House Appropriations Committee room for a closed-door discussion yesterday of President Eisenhower's budget proposals. Humphrey said he believes substantial cuts can be made in the $73,300,000,000 Eisenhower has asked Congress to spend in the year beginning next July 1. (AP Photofax)

Cold Air Mass Swept Into East By High Winds

By The Associated Press

High gusty winds swept cold air into most sections along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to northern Florida Wednesday and cold wave warnings were issued for a broad area extending from eastern Kentucky and Tennessee northeastward to portions of New England.

Cold air pressed southward from Canada spreading snow from the Northwest to North Dakota.

The eastward surge of cold air brought a record precipitation over a 24-hour period to Buffalo, N. Y., where a fall of 2.26 inches was recorded.

The cold blast that hit the East Coast was preceded by some snow but it had diminished to flurries by late Wednesday afternoon.

The weather bureau said temperatures would sink to 20 below in some parts of New York State and that heavy snow squalls driving off Lake Ontario also were in store for the state.

Winds Topple D. C. Wall

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—High winds today toppled a brick wall onto nine automobiles parked in a northwest Washington parking lot today. Several of the cars were almost completely buried.

The wind, with gusts up to 56 m.p.h. also blew down three walls of a warehouse under construction in nearby Arlington County, Va., smashed windows, knocked down trees and tangled wires.

All Possible Budget Cuts Urged By Ike

President Hopes Congress Can Find Places To Use Ax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower, in an unusual if not unprecedented step, called on Congress today to cut wherever possible the $71,800,000,000 budget he himself recommended.

At a packed news conference, Eisenhower said anybody examining the thousands of details in his budget—a record-breaker for peace-time—"ought to find some place where they might save another dollar."

"If they can, I think if Congress can, its committees, it is their duty to do it," he added.

Eisenhower went along part way—but not the whole distance—with his secretary of the treasury, George M. Humphrey, who has been warning of disastrous results in the future unless spending is curbed.

Humphrey has expressed hope Congress would find places to cut the budget, and in this he got the backing of Eisenhower today.

Points Of Disagreement — These points of apparent disagreement remained:

1. Eisenhower predicted the nation will never again have a big depression like that of the 1930s. Humphrey said last week that if "terrific" spending and taxing are not halted, "You will have a depression that will curl your hair."

2. Eisenhower said that if a depression ever did get under way, "I would do everything that was constitutional and the federal government could do" to stop it. Humphrey had said he would probably resign if the administration resorted to red ink spending to end a depression.

This was Eisenhower's 100th formal Washington news conference in Washington since he became President, and his first meeting with the newsmen since last Nov. 14.

Other Major Points — The matter of the budget occupied more time than anything else, but Eisenhower made these other major points in reply to queries that had been saved up for days or weeks:

1. He believes that to separate the economic and military phases of his proposal to block possible Communist aggression in the Middle East "would destroy what we are really trying to do."

2. No changes are now planned in his Cabinet but, as for later, "I don't know."

3. He does not feel qualified to say whether the Soviets are hardening their attitude or changing U. N. watch. Israel demands an end to raids by commando forces from Gaza into Israeli territory.

The document also was said to stress the necessity of Egyptian compliance with a 1951 resolution by the Security Council calling for freedom of shipping through the Suez Canal. Egypt has barred Israeli shipping from the canal on the grounds that Israel and Egypt are at war.

32 School Girls Shoplift 'For Kicks'

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Jan. 23 (AP)—Police today rounded up 32 high school girls whom they said went shoplifting "just for kicks" on lunch hour or after-school forays.

Police Chief J. Willard Welsh said the girls, all high school students, had taken so much loot it took 14 typewritten pages to list it all. Most of the stolen material taken over a three-month period was girl's clothing and cosmetics.

Three For The Road

DETROIT, Jan. 23 (AP)—A bus rider, disgusted with the snail's pace at which his bus had to move on Plymouth road today because of storm conditions, left the vehicle and went into a nearby saloon.

He had two shots of whisky, and a beer. Then he went back and reboarded the bus which had moved only 10 feet during his absence.

MONTE CARLO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Monacans celebrated with champagne and fireworks the birth today of a blue-eyed girl to their ruling prince, Rainer, and his American princess, Grace Kelly.

The strong-lunged miss, described as having dark hair and a tiny imperfection on her nose that looked like a freckle, was bundled in grandeur in a gilded wood cradle in which her father was rocked.

But she was weighed on ordinary American baby scales brought from Philadelphia by her grandmother, Margaret Kelly, and tippled the scales at 8 pounds, 3 ounces.

The tiny princess, who will inherit 24 ancient European titles and her father's throne in his 367-acre principality unless there is a boy heir, was named Caroline.

Palace sources said she began crying strongly almost as soon as she entered the world at 9:27 a.m. Her 26-year-old mother wept too—but for joy—and expressed a wish to nurse the child when it was brought to her. Later, Princess Grace sipped champagne in a toast to her first-born.

Front Door Ice Delivery In New York Town

Cakes of ice, some estimated at 500 pounds, piled up on front lawns and blocked traffic in streets at Ilion, N. Y., when soaring temperatures plus rain broke up ice-bound Steele's Creek. The force swept across the streets and piled against cellar walls and porches. A truck was swept across one street and piled against a telephone pole. (AP Photofax)

Israel Refuses Again To Leave Two Vital Areas

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 23 (AP)—Israel refused again today to leave the critical areas of the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba until guarantees are made that her interests in those vital areas will be protected.

This was the gist of a seven-page memorandum submitted by Israel to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld in answer to efforts of the General Assembly to obtain the evacuation of Israel from those areas forthwith.

Pressure Building Up

Israel previously had announced her unwillingness to withdraw from the critical zones without guarantees but the continued refusal took on added importance in view of pressure building up in the Assembly for Israel to leave Egypt without conditions.

The memorandum was reported to state that Israel will hold the Sharm el Sheikh area, key to the Gulf of Aqaba, until the four countries bordering on that gulf agree on a permanent arrangement for an international waterway, or some other guarantee of freedom of navigation can be made.

End To Raids Demanded

It also was said to contain a proposal that Israel continue to administer the civil and social services of the Gaza Strip under U. N. watch. Israel demands an end to raids by commando forces from Gaza into Israeli territory.

The document also was said to stress the necessity of Egyptian compliance with a 1951 resolution by the Security Council calling for freedom of shipping through the Suez Canal. Egypt has barred Israeli shipping from the canal on the grounds that Israel and Egypt are at war.

Three Persons Die In Explosion, Fire

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP)—Three persons were killed and eight injured in a million-dollar fire that swept a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. division headquarters today.

Four of the injured were critically burned.

The fire was touched off by an explosion. Fumes from an open gas line were ignited by an electric heater. Company officials said a plumber opened the gas line not knowing that the heater was turned on in an adjoining office.

The mammoth blast buckled the second floor of the two-story building, which also served as a warehouse. Every window was broken.

Eisenhower Makes Plea For Voluntary Price-Wage Curbs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked business and labor leaders today, in the name of national stability, to keep their prices and pay raises within bounds.

He made the appeal in his annual economic report to Congress. In this, Eisenhower reported that 1956 rang up the greatest national output ever—412 billion dollars in goods and services for the year as a whole, and reaching an annual rate of 424 billions in the last quarter.

However, he said there were uncertainties, as always, in the economic picture and declared it was important that government, individuals and groups work together for stability.

He discussed prices and wages. He did say that prosperous 1956 demonstrated: "When production and employment are high, wage and price increases in important industries can create upward pressures on costs and prices generally, and that the monetary and fiscal policies of government must be supported by appropriate private policies to assure both a high level of economic activity and stable prices."

Eisenhower, in his economic message today, again asked for continuation of present rates of excise and corporation income taxes that otherwise would drop on April 1.

Other major requests or suggestions included:

That Congress "permit regulated investment companies holding their assets in state and local securities to pass through to their stockholders the tax-exempt status of the income received on these securities."

State Debt Limit Review — That state and local governments review their debt limits and other legal limitations that may unduly restrict borrowing for public improvements."

That Congress authorize a study of the nation's "financial structure and practices, laws and regulations affecting financial facilities, and means for controlling credit," Eisenhower made this request first in his State of the Union message Jan. 10.

That Congress consider tax relief for small business "that would involve only a minimum loss of revenue."

That Congress "authorize partial federal insurance against industrial atomic hazards."

That Congress authorize a four-year program of federal aid in school construction. This, too, has been asked before.

That Congress establish an agency in the Commerce Department to enlarge the program of federal aid to "local areas of persistent unemployment" to include loans and expanded technical assistance.

That the states raise their unemployment insurance benefits "and lengthen their maximum duration, where needed."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Senate was reported ready today to make a fresh start on its investigation of alleged racketeering in labor unions—this time with a special eight-man committee.

Initial hearings last week were balked by witnesses who challenged the jurisdiction of the Senate Investigations subcommittee and refused to testify.

Both the investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), and the Senate Labor Committee have claimed jurisdiction over the inquiry. Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) is chairman of the labor group.

Senate leaders are reported to have agreed to create a special bipartisan committee, give the chair to McClellan, and authorize the committee to handle most phases of the investigation from now on.

President Eisenhower, discussing labor racketeering at his news conference today, said Congress has the right and the responsibility to look into the operation of any laws it has enacted.

Pair Pulls $700 Holdup — WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Two men held up the Columbus Truck Terminal Inc., last night and took $700, police reported.

While Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy defended the work of his men, he acknowledged that they lagged more than two days in picking up a utility company file pointing to Metesky.

However, Kennedy said a check-up on Metesky was set in motion early Saturday as a result of the file's discovery at the Consolidated Edison Co. late Friday. Police did not actually take possession of the file until Monday.

The commissioner said also that officers were working on "a number of other leads which appeared to be almost as good" at the time they learned of the Metesky material Friday night. Kennedy would comment no further on the matter, except to say further checks would be made.

As for Monaco, the 21-gun salute announcing the birth of a girl—a boy would have called for 101 guns—uncorked a flow of champagne not seen here since the April 18-19 wedding of Rainer and the Hollywood movie star.

FBI Checking Extortion Note In Girls' Deaths

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—The FBI moved into the investigation of the Grimes sisters slaying today.

Donald S. Hostetter, Chicago FBI chief, said agents are investigating an extortion letter mailed while the sisters still were missing.

He said it was the ninth extortion or ransom demand sent to the Grimes South Side home after the girls, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, disappeared Dec. 28. Their nude bodies were found yesterday near a ditch southeast of Chicago.

Mental Patient Wrote Eight — He said eight letters were traced to a World War I veteran who is a mental patient in the veterans hospital at nearby Downey, Ill. He added that the U.S. Attorney's office is convinced the mental patient had no part in the case and will not be prosecuted.

The eight letters instructed the girls' mother, Mrs. Loretta Grimes, to go to Milwaukee with $1,000. She went as instructed but was not contacted.

However, Hostetter said the ninth extortion note was written by another person and is under investigation. He declined to give further details except to say the slaying investigation is chiefly the function of local law enforcement agencies.

Cause Of Death Undetermined — A preliminary examination by the coroner's office did not determine the cause of death. But the report said neither body showed evidence of rape, strangulation or broken bones. It added that external marks on the bodies were not from abuse or treatment that would have caused death.

What had appeared to be a potentially important clue collapsed when the girls' mother, Mrs. Loretta Grimes, 48, said a yellow sweater found in a park near the roadside was not the one worn by Patricia.

'Little Inch' Explodes — YORK, Pa., Jan. 23 (AP)—The cross-country "Little Inch" natural gas pipeline exploded near here early today, shooting flaming gas 200 feet high and casting a lurid glow for 20 miles around. No one was injured.

'Bomber' Begins Mental Tests; Police Admit Lag — NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Smiling George Metesky began psychiatric tests today, as high police officials delved into questions raised about officers' work before his arrest as the "Mad Bomber."

While Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy defended the work of his men, he acknowledged that they lagged more than two days in picking up a utility company file pointing to Metesky.

However, Kennedy said a check-up on Metesky was set in motion early Saturday as a result of the file's discovery at the Consolidated Edison Co. late Friday. Police did not actually take possession of the file until Monday.

The commissioner said also that officers were working on "a number of other leads which appeared to be almost as good" at the time they learned of the Metesky material Friday night. Kennedy would comment no further on the matter, except to say further checks would be made.

As during most of the time since his arrest, the 54-year-old Metesky was still smiling and seemingly happy as he began his psychiatric examinations at Bellevue Hospital.

The tests will last two or three weeks. They could determine whether he will be committed to a mental institution or go on trial for the 16-year-long bombing spree.

House Group Shoves Aside Demo Version

President Urges Program Be Kept In Single Package

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower won a preliminary victory in the House Foreign Affairs Committee today shortly after urging that his Middle East program be kept in one legislative package.

The President told his news conference "it is vital" that Congress give him the economic as well as the emergency military authority he has requested to guard the Middle East against communism.

"To have one part of this without the other," he said, "would destroy what we are really trying to do . . ."

A few hours later the House committee shoved aside a proposed Democratic substitute for the Eisenhower Middle East resolution and gave tentative approval to the first part of the administration's version.

Still to come, however, are the major votes on whether the President should be given standby authority to use U. S. troops to repel any Red aggression and whether he should be authorized to spend 200 million dollars this year on economic aid to the Arab countries and Israel.

One Change Voted

The committee action took place behind closed doors and was reported by Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.). Gordon said the committee voted only one change today and that prospects are good for finishing work on the measure tomorrow.

Arguing for his resolution in the form he presented it to Congress personally 18 days ago, Eisenhower told his news conference that, "Peace is not going to be obtained in any cheap way and it is not going to be maintained in any cheap way."

Weapons and military aid alone, he said, will not prevent communism from overwhelming or subverting weak nations in the Middle East.

"If we limit ourselves to that, then I would say it was a self-defeating effort because we must, particularly by technical help, and sometimes by helping in investments, let them develop their resources so they can have a better life."

Eisenhower handled nearly 20 foreign policy questions as reporters quizzed him mainly about the Middle East crisis and relations with Russia.

A-Weapons "Almost Routine" — The President in replying made these main points:

1. He "wouldn't guess" whether American forces would use small tactical atomic weapons in helping any Middle East country which became the target of aggression but noted that these weapons have become "almost routine part of our equipment."

2. His chief goal during his second term as president will be to achieve "better world understanding" by stages. First priority would be given to building up stronger American ties with Allied countries "and after that particularly better understanding with the Russians . . ."

3. He has no plans at this time for any new direct appeals to Russian leaders to ease East-West differences. He said Soviet behavior is "rather unpredictable and . . . practically inexplicable" sometimes, and any agreements to ease problems must be of the kind both sides can trust.

He also left hanging in the air the question of who discovered the material—a Con Ed woman employee or a detective—and who will get the $26,000 reward offered for information leading to the arrest.

As during most of the time since his arrest, the 54-year-old Metesky was still smiling and seemingly happy as he began his psychiatric examinations at Bellevue Hospital.

The tests will last two or three weeks. They could determine whether he will be committed to a mental institution or go on trial for the 16-year-long bombing spree.

W.Va. Democratic Proposals Will Be Handed Legislature

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 23 (P)—Far-reaching proposals of a joint Democratic Steering Committee are scheduled for introduction in the Legislature Friday.

Senate President Bean (D-Har-dy) and House Speaker Flannery (D-Logan) outlined the proposals at a news conference today.

The measures have the approval of Senate Democrats, given in a caucus today. House Democrats have not yet acted formally but will caucus after tomorrow's session. Flannery said he expects approval.

The items scheduled for introduction include:

1. Extension of the merit system to cover many employees in all major departments. The measure would not freeze any present employees in their jobs. Department heads, persons in common labor jobs, liquor store employees and personnel of the governor's office and the legislative branch would be excluded from merit system coverage.

2. A bill to create a state liquor procurement corporation. The intent is to abolish the existing system of liquor and wine accounts and capture for the school fund commissioners now paid to liquor and wine representatives.
3. Establishment of a constitutional commission to study what the statement termed "West Virginia's obsolete constitution" and make recommendations to needed changes.
4. Establishment of a separate Department of Mental Health, headed by a psychiatrist as director of mental health. The department would have control of all institutions and hospitals for the insane and incompetent.
5. Creation of a legislative council to provide continuous service to members of the Legislature in such matters as bill drafting and library facilities.
6. Establishment of a scholarship fund to encourage young men and women to enter the teaching profession. The bill would create 132 scholarships each worth $750 per year. Committees in the counties and senatorial districts would select the scholarship recipients.
7. A bill to prohibit members of political party executive committees or their close relatives from holding state employment.
8. One or more bills aimed at promoting industrial development and utilizing qualified leaders from various fields in planning a long-range program for industrial development in West Virginia.
9. A series of bills aimed at cutting down highway fatalities in West Virginia. The bills would provide stiffer penalties for traffic violations, enlarge the force of State troopers, and authorize use of blood tests in drunken driving cases and radar for speed control, among other things.

22 Are Indicted In Alleged Pa. Turnpike Fraud

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 23 (P)—A Dauphin County grand jury today indicted 22 persons on charges of conspiring to defraud the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of $19½ million dollars.

A regular grand jury upheld all the findings of a special jury which charged the commission was fleeced of millions of dollars in a mine flushing project on the northeastern extension of the highway.

Heading the list of those accused of criminal conspiracy are Thomas J. Evans, former commission chairman, and James F. Torrance, a holdover member. Both are Republicans.

The grand jury also handed down an indictment charging Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat, with misconduct in office, an accusation unrelated to the conspiracy charge.

Unexplained Gunfire Heard Near Budapest

BUDAPEST, Jan. 23 (P)—Bursts of rifle fire were heard from the hills overlooking Budapest today, just three months after the outbreak of the anti-Communist revolution which was crushed by the Russian army.

The firing was heard as the press and radio of Premier Janos Kadar's government announced three new death sentences and mass arrests in its drive to crush the remaining opposition. In Budapest alone, 496 were reported arrested in a two-day roundup of persons freed from prison in the revolution.

The shots were not explained. Perhaps rifles were fired just to mark the date. Reporters touring the center of the capital before dark could find no open demonstrations.

However, someone walked 50 yards across a snow-covered square and lit a candle in front of the Budapest hero's monument. And all over the city hundreds of other candles flickered on the graves of freedom fighters, many still hurried there they fell fighting Russian tanks.

Budapesters appeared in a sudden and desperate mood.

The official press and radio reported these developments:

1. Three more death sentences for persons described as inciters of revolt.
2. Seven more prison sentences and two more arrests for concealment of arms.
3. A broadcast warning by a Communist party hatchetman, Karoly Kiss, that "the dictatorship of the proletariat will settle accounts with all its enemies."

Kiss, a former foreign minister, is a member of the Communist party Executive Committee.

Fire Destroys Two Barns, Tenant House

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 23 (P)—Fire of unknown origin, fanned by winds up to 60 miles per hour, destroyed two barns and a small tenant house early today on the nearby I. D. VanMeter Farms.

Asst. Fire Chief Merle Fellers Martinsburg estimated the loss at $100,000. Cause of the fire was not known. It was believed to have started in one of the barns.

Twenty to 30 head of cattle were lost.

Powell Given Cold Shoulder

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (P)—The House Education and Labor Committee voted today to give its Southern chairman, Rep. Barden (D-NC), full authority to pick the heads of its working subcommittees.

Rep. Powell (D-NY), a Negro who last fall supported re-election of President Eisenhower, said the action was "deliberately aimed at ignoring my seniority" and denying him a subcommittee chairmanship.

As third ranking Democrat in seniority on the committee, Powell ordinarily would head a subcommittee.

Powell told a reporter he asked Barden whether he would be named a subcommittee chairman. He quoted Barden as replying "No, because of complications."

Powell said the committee took its action because he has insisted that no federal aid for school construction should go to segregated schools and because of "the whole philosophy of punishing me for getting off the plantation."

Malenkov Boasts Russian Threats Frightened West

MOSCOW, Jan. 23 (P)—Former Premier Georgi Malenkov said today the Soviet Union frightened off the Western Powers in Egypt and Hungary by using and threatening to use force.

Malenkov addressed farmers in Chkalov, south of the Urals. Like most top Soviet leaders he is engaged on a sort of barnstorming tour viewed by Western diplomats as a political, fence-mending campaign by the top members of the Soviet collective leadership.

Malenkov said the Soviet Union showed the world it can "force the imperialists to respect our might" through "strong measures" such as it took in Egypt and Hungary. When Britain and France attacked in Egypt after the invasion by Israel there, the Soviet Union threatened to use force to end the fighting. In the Hungarian revolt, the Russians poured in thousands of tanks and many divisions of troops to crush the rebels.

Policeman Beaten, Robbed By Burglars

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (P)—An off-duty policeman who stopped a truck on a traffic charge was beaten and robbed early today.

Police said the truck was stolen and that two Negroes in it apparently were using it to flee from a burglary at the welding firm of Curtin & Johnson Inc. The truck, recovered later, belonged to the firm.

The officer was Pvt. Fred R. Matheson, 30, of the Washington police force, who chased and overtook the truck after seeing it go through a red light. He said that while seeking to question the driver he was attacked from the rear by the other man. Matheson, knocked unconscious, lost his pistol, wallet and station wagon. The station wagon was later abandoned by the pair.

Opening lead: Seven of clubs. That a new broom sweeps clean was demonstrated forcibly at the National Championship tournament of the American Contract Bridge league recently held in New Orleans when four young women pairing up for the first time managed to carry off the women's team championship against an outstandingly strong field. The winning lineup included Mrs. Tobias Stone, New York City (Janice of Break the Bank fame, who established some kind of a world's record by qualifying as a life master in one year of tournament play), Miss Peggy Rotzell of Philadelphia, Miss Mary Tiernan of Pittsburgh, and Miss Charlotte Sidway of Buffalo.

Among the teams they outdistanced on their way to the wire was the one led by Helen Sobel, which finished in the runner-up position. A hand which accounted for part of the victor's margin of victory is shown today. A contract of four spades was reached at both tables on identical bidding sequences, and curiously, both Wests chose to lead the seven of clubs. The queen was played from dummy and here the defenders parted ways. Mary Tiernan, sitting East, decided to let the trick hold in dummy. Had declarer been able to reach her hand in time, she could have taken the heart finesse to dispose of her losing diamond, but unable to do so, she cashed the ace of hearts and followed thru with queen, discarding the king of diamonds. West won with the king and a club continuation yielded two tricks for the defense. The ace of trumps took the setting trick.

At the other table, East won the ace of clubs at trick one and under the threatening shadow of dummy's heart suit cashed the ace of diamonds and returned the jack of clubs. Charlotte Sidway, South, took the trick and ruffed herself in with a diamond. On the jack of hearts lead, West did not cover, but Miss Sidway overtook, with the queen, cashed the ace, sluffing a club and ruffed a heart. On the low spade lead to dummy, the defense was helpless, for the spades provided entry to cash the fifth heart, for a second club discard.

Board Gets Report On County Funds

The county treasurer's quarterly report for the period ending December 31, 1956 was submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday. It was prepared by Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor.

The balance in the bank as of December 31, 1956 was $1,500,419.21. The bank balance as of September 30, 1956 was $2,179,102.94. Receipts during the three-month period were $962,737.39. County taxes outstanding, including the various special taxing areas such as the LaVale Sanitary Commission, Potomac Park, Mt. Savage and Cresaptown taxing areas, amounted to $228,462.66.

The largest amounts of county taxes outstanding are charged to the three district tax collectors. Ernest B. Treat, collector for 1954 has $12.51 outstanding; J. Wallace Close has $15,107.88 due from 1955 and $131,035.24 for 1956 taxes. T. G. McMorran has $22.06, $102.80; $217.72, and $1,648.23 for the years from 1951 to 1954. Paul R. LaRue has $8,816.80, and $27,609.14 due from 1955 and 1956 and James Holmes has $38,587.81 and $2,625.79 due from 1955 and 1956. The balance is due from the special taxing areas.

Linen is made from the flax plant.

The total 1956 disbursement of dividends was $1 per share, representing a ten per cent dividend on the par value of $10 per share.

Local Man Held On Theft Charge

Louis Donius, about 60, Bowman's Addition, was given a preliminary hearing Tuesday in Trial Magistrate's Court on charges of the theft of $60 from another man.

Donius prayed a jury trial at the hearing before Magistrate Donald W. Mason and bond was set at $500. The defendant was placed in Allegany County Jail in default of the bond.

Authorities said Donius took three $20 bills from Robert B. Brant, 404 Pennsylvania Avenue, last Saturday. He was arrested by Officers Warren Brehm and Thomas Andrews of the City Police Department.

"They both drive!"

TWIN TRACTION...

a Studebaker-Packard FIRST

so good other cars will copy it

WHAT IS IT? Twin-Traction Differential gives you new pavement-gripping traction and new safe control impossible with conventional differentials. The secret lies in the fact that the Twin-Traction Differential delivers the major part of the engine's power to the rear wheel with the best traction—instead of the wheel with the poorest traction (as in a conventional differential). The result—roadability that's better in six important ways:

1. In ice, snow or mud, Twin Traction gets you out of spots where cars with conventional differentials would "spin their wheels."
2. In highway driving, it protects against skids that might otherwise occur when one rear wheel hits a slippery spot.
3. On sharp turns, it improves roadability by applying the major driving force to the inside rear wheel. This also tends to compensate for over-steering.
4. On rough or washboard roads, it reduces the rear-end bounce, sidesway or swerve which results from a fast-spinning wheel suddenly hitting the pavement again.
5. When one rear wheel goes off the pavement onto a soft shoulder, Twin Traction directs the driving force to the other rear wheel, assuring safe, positive control.
6. In ordinary driving, Twin Traction cuts tire wear by assuring more positive traction.

Test it, yourself, today. See your Studebaker-Packard Dealer for a demonstration drive!

Group 'UN In US Foreign Policy' Program March 5

The International Relations Group of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch AAUW will present a program on "The United Nations in United States Foreign Policy," at a community banquet and general meeting March 5, instead of February 5.

Dr. Hazel G. Ramsay, group chairman, announced that to present the topic, "the UN in US Foreign Policy," as previously announced, the date of the banquet was postponed, as the United States Department of State has reported that "all those needed for our programs will be required this February in New York City at the United Nations, because of the increased activity of the UN Assembly."

Cancellation or substitution of the program has been prevented with the change of dates, made possible by branch committees, who were responsible for planning February and March programs, Dr. Ramsay pointed out.

New club orders for 22-pound CARE packages for Hungarian or Far East relief are being taken. Dr. Ramsay has received word they are "desperately needed," and anyone wishing to send one is asked to send $1 to the chairman. $30 has already been sent for 660 pounds of surplus commodities.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Are Your Feelings Hurt Too Easily?

A business leader, asked recently to enumerate the characteristics that make a good executive, named as one of them "small toes"—the kind that aren't constantly being stepped on by others.

He has something there that belongs just as surely on the list of characteristics that make a woman charming. It isn't possible to carry around a set of too easily hurt feelings and be the kind of understanding, cooperative, and out-going person a woman must be to achieve her full share of charm.

Sensitivity is a fine quality; but over-sensitivity is something else again. We all know the girl who's so quick to imagine a slight that we tread on eggs every time we deal with her. She makes us uncomfortable, and that's just the opposite of one of charm's foremost requirements—the ability to put others at ease.

Men often feel that women take things too personally—that they take as criticism of themselves what is meant as general comment. This is disturbing at home, and extremely detrimental in business. The boss soon looks elsewhere for a secretary or an assistant if the one he has makes him guard everything he says for fear he will be misinterpreted. He can't—or won't work with someone who can't enter into a discussion without looking for underlying meanings that imply there's something wrong with her. He's not likely to promote the girl who isn't plainly interested in the affairs of his business enough not to be so concerned with herself.

Too "big toes" mean too small a viewpoint. A viewpoint based on unpleasant self-concern, the kind that gets in the way of any kind of success, business or personal, and the kind that makes for vast unhappiness. Recognize it for what it is and put down the slightest tendency before it becomes a stumbling block to you.

Tomorrow — Temporary measures.

Red Cross Views Bloodmobile Cost

PIEDMONT—Several problems were discussed at a meeting of the Piedmont Chapter of the American Red Cross held at the office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company with Rev. Raymond M. Campbell, chairman, presiding.

Whether to continue the visitation of the Bloodmobile, which is quite expensive, was discussed. Last year the cost was $169 and only 37 pints of blood were contributed. The local quota was 135 pints.

This year the cost will be over $200. The chapter does not want to discontinue this program as it means much for people needing blood when it is necessary. Chapters that participate, no matter where the citizens are when they need blood, receive it free.

The annual membership drive will be held in March.

Another meeting of the Chapter will be held at 8 p. m., January 28.

Two Area Boys Are Sentenced After Joy Ride

Frostburg Youth Gets 18 Months

FROSTBURG—Two area youths took a "joy ride" in a stolen automobile Tuesday, and ended up in more trouble than they could handle with authorities.

The ride cost David William Preston, 19, of Frostburg, 18 months in the Maryland House of Correction, while the other youth, Donald House, 16, Lonaconing, faces six months in the House of Correction.

The case developed Tuesday morning when the youths stole an automobile owned by Franklin Preston of Frostburg.

Shortly after the vehicle was taken, Frostburg City Police were notified that two boys were driving recklessly around Beall High School. Upon investigation police were informed the boys had headed for Eckhart.

A short time later Preston and House were apprehended by Police Chief Lloyd Truly and Officer John Conrad on a dead-end road near the Eckhart Elementary School.

Preston was charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, operating a vehicle without a license, and two other violations. Trial Magistrate Fred Crowe in Frostburg yesterday sentenced Preston to six months on each charge, but suspended one of the sentences. He will serve 18 months in the House of Correction.

House received a six-month sentence on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

During the testimony it was pointed out that Preston had previously been charged with similar counts and was only recently released from the House of Correction. His drivers license had been revoked some time ago, police said.

Moorefield September the Moorefield firemen demonstrated the handling of fire fighting methods and equipment. Officials of the volunteer company raised funds beginning with a $25 per plate banquet and there were fifty tickets sold for this project. A drive for funds from property owners was successful in the remaining $1700 reported to date.

The Human Family Grows And Grows

Will rapid American population growth continue in the decades ahead? Will there be higher standards of living and more leisure in which to enjoy it? Most Americans take such advances for granted.

Industry sees booming years, and planners in the many fields of public needs call for far-reaching programs to meet the demands they foresee. But scientists paint with a different brush. Some of them are now asking whether the population growth so happily anticipated may not imperil the very living standards it is assumed it will somehow engender.

At the year-end sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science it was estimated that the U. S. population would rise 60 million in 20 years and that cities in the 1980s will be almost twice as big. This educated guess offers the picture of a nation in which much of the present open country will be metropolitan suburbs through which congested rivers of land traffic will flow in such volume that 1957 traffic jams will seem like trickles in comparison. Overhead the sky will be filled with aircraft—mostly jets—carrying people about the world at vast speeds.

Believe it or not, the anticipated rate of population growth is greater than that of teeming India and higher than the world average. The picture raises the question: How long can man's expanding know-how in producing food and the other necessities of life—and how long can such things as the earth's water supply—stay ahead of an exploding population growth? Is man going to doom the rosy future by reproducing his kind faster than his ingenuity can supply human needs?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Arab Revolution

It is a function of government to evaluate information that comes from many sources and to base policy upon a realistic appraisal of data. When those whose function it is to make such an evaluation are conditioned by their prejudices and wishes to reach conclusions based upon nothing, it is likely that policies originating from such conclusions will be erroneous.

I am only a reporter with such limited facilities as are available to a private person; yet it was possible for me to write on January 22, 1947, in this column as follows:

"Arab strength is a reaction to European weakness. It is a definite reflex to the apparent break-up of the British Empire. When the British have left Egypt and India—and possibly Palestine—there is no telling what dimensions and characteristics this revived Moslem power will take on. It may sweep every vestige of the Juda-Christian civilization before it in the Middle East and on the northern shores of the Mediterranean in Africa. And in Europe it will meet the power of Soviet Russia—as friend or foe, but not as the Defender of the Faith."

During the 10 years that have gone by since this paragraph was published, the course of events has moved with unerring precision as therein indicated. This does not mean that I am particularly wise or even well-informed; it does say that foresight can help those who need to evaluate available data to judge the trend of the times. At the time this was written Nehru was no great factor in world affairs; Nasser was an obscure military officer.

But it could not have been otherwise but that the breakup of the British Empire would lead to political convulsions in Asia and Africa and that a vacuum would appear because some areas of the Earth have a long history of being conquered and a short history of self-government. Egypt and India are such areas. It would be false to say that anything is not subject to change, but the likelihood is that countries accustomed to dependence will not long remain independent.

At any rate, those in charge of Soviet Policy have assumed that these postulates are correct and they have moved in to fill the vacuum created by the breakup of the British Empire. The American assumption has been that all nations and races are alike, that those who are dependent are only so because they have been conquered and exploited and that given an opportunity, all human beings prefer independence and liberty. There is no historic data to uphold such an emotional view.

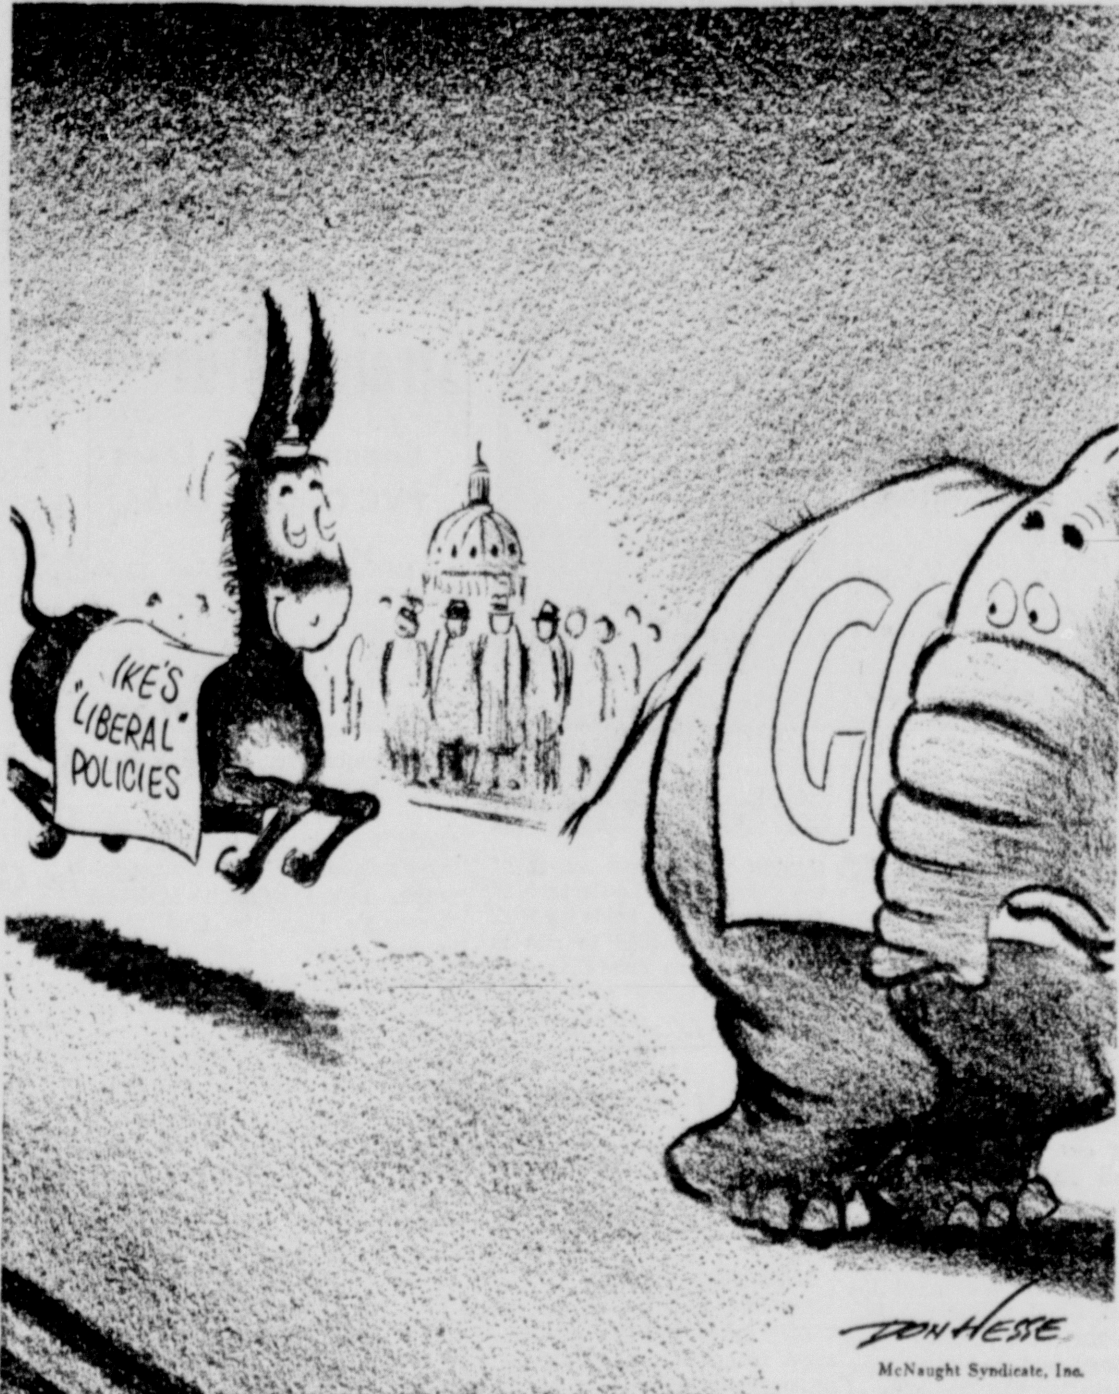

Thus far, the Russians have been more correct and more successful as is evidenced by the role of Syria and Egypt and their ability to paralyze both Great Britain and France by confusing the issue in the United Nations. How skillfully the Russians managed this operation is made evident by the double-standard morality of the United Nations vis-a-vis Egypt and Hungary.

In the instance of Egypt, the United Nations was forceful; in the instance of Hungary, the United Nations has been cowardly and immobile. The reason is that as regards Egypt, the United States continues to pursue a policy based upon the assumption that the Arabs ought to favor the West if they are guaranteed economic support. But apparently the Arabic mind does not crave independence but security and security takes the form of protection, the kind of protection they once got from Turkey, then from Great Britain and now from Soviet Russia.

It was possible to foresee that this would be so when the Arab League was organized in 1945 and received a subsidy from the United States. The United States gave vent to a generosity which was not explainable by any previous experience in all of human history. Such generosity encouraged politicians to ask for more, all the time, and finally to ask for more without any strings attached, which really meant that they demanded the money for nothing. It was a wonderful, if unbelievable formula and stimulated ambitions among the rulers to try to get what they could from other countries as well.

Eventually they found that the Russians had much to give away, too. They gave arms, tanks, airplanes, instructors in revolution and encouragement to war. Against such gifts, what are farm surpluses?

Inaugural Parade

Ike's Inaugural Address Was One Of Greatest

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — One of the great Inaugural addresses of all times has just been delivered by President Eisenhower. It probably was the first message at an inaugural ceremony directed in its entirety to all the peoples of the world as well as to the people of the United States.

Something far more than an appeal for peace was inscribed in the President's pronouncement. He articulated the hopes and aspirations of the oppressed and the enslaved in the world. It was a recognition of their plight and a veiled promise not to forget them.

Most significant were the words pointed to the people of Soviet Russia as follows:

"We honor, no less in this divided world than in a less troubled time, the people of Russia. We do not dread, rather do we welcome, their progress in education and industry. We wish them success in their demands for more intellectual freedom, greater security before their own laws, fuller enjoyment of the rewards of their own toil. For as such things come to pass, the more certain will be the coming of that day when our peoples may freely meet in friendship."

No such purposeful separation of the rulers of an aggressor government from the people of a country has been made since the fateful days nearly forty years ago when President Wilson said in his war message of April 2, 1917, to both Houses of Congress:

"We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling towards them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval." Just a few weeks before, Russia had overthrown the Czar and Mr. Wilson expressed the hope that "a fit partner for a league of honor" had emerged as the "great, generous Russian people have been added . . . to the forces that are fighting for freedom in the world, for justice, and for peace."

But it didn't turn out that way. For international Communism took over with a despotism that has proved as oppressive as that of the czars and has become a menace to the whole world. That's why President Eisenhower in his Inaugural Address said "Rarely has this earth known such peril as today." Declaring the whole world is divided, he added:

"The divisive force is international Communism and the power that it controls. The designs of that power, dark in purpose, are clear in practice. It strives to seal forever the fate of those it has enslaved. It strives to break the ties that unite the free. And it strives to capture — to exploit for its own greater power — all forces of change in the world, especially the needs of the hungry and the hopes of the oppressed."

Then came the expression of a new hope — Hungary and what the recent Crusade for Freedom there had meant. The biggest applause came as Mr. Eisenhower spoke these words:

"Yet the world of international Communism has itself been shaken by a fierce and mighty force; the readiness of men who love freedom to pledge their lives to that love. Through the night of their bondage, the unconquerable will of heroes has struck with the swift, sharp thrust of lightning. Budapest is no longer merely the name of a city; henceforth it is a new and shining symbol of man's yearning to be free."

The President proclaimed, moreover, a pledge "to honor and fortify the authority of the United Nations" but he also declared that "beyond this general resolve, we are called upon to act a responsible role in the world's great concerns or conflicts — whether they touch upon the affairs of a cast region, the fate of an island in the Pacific, or the use of a canal in the Middle East."

Here was a reiteration of the foreign policy of the United States as expressed in the Formosa Resolution passed by Congress and in the Middle East Resolution now pending. Here was a hint that, since the Suez Canal issue has not yet been settled, America may play a vital part therein.

The Inaugural Address didn't touch at all on domestic issues or legislative programs. It was a dramatic occasion for an utterance of worldwide importance, and Mr. Eisenhower rose to the occasion. For all the world would read — and especially Moscow — that there can be peaceful co-existence but only on the basis of free governments in which the people are free to express themselves and elect their own rulers. It was a speech that seeks by moral force to influence the attitudes and behavior of peoples everywhere — moral force at its best.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We finally emerged from the last peace conference with the right to declare our own wars.

L'affaire Suez was closer than hammer toes. France and England gift-wrapped a live alligator bag.

That put us right in the middle like the bass drum in a parade. Don't shake hands with a cat's paw in the middle of the stream.

There's more to that Suez embrowl than eyes the meat. The Anglo Franco caper was an overture to the best of all possible world wars. There are three in a set.

When Uncle Sam didn't slide down the brass rail Premier Eden had to regurgitate the details. With "80,000,000, debt interest in December he had to play both ends against the middle like a hound dog watching a possum in a hollow log.

Politics makes strange bedfellows but diplomacy keeps 'em up all night.

Children Should Be Briefed For Hospital Trip

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A little knowledge goes a long way when Johnny and Susie must go to the hospital. If they know what to expect, they will be less apprehensive and more cooperative. This will not prevent their crying if they are hurt but the preparation will help them to develop a more mature attitude toward hospitals, doctors, and nurses.

Start by telling the children about hospitals long before they get sick. Some parents explain that hospitals are workshops where everyone dresses in white, and the surgeons fix people just as mechanics repair autos and airplanes. Those who are ill stay overnight and many different tests are done to help them get well.

This educational method seldom is used because most of us do not think about trouble until it happens. Furthermore, when a tot is hospitalized, it usually is an emergency and everyone is so excited the youngster's feelings are shoved into the background. Despite the hurry, parents should remain calm and tell their offspring what it will be like.

Children are afraid of being separated from mother and father. The young one may fear he is being punished or that no one loves him. This is not as far-fetched as it sounds because the threat of sickness is used as a disciplinary measure. How frequently parents say: "if you don't wear your hat you'll catch cold" or "if you eat that you'll get sick."

Other misconceptions arise because Johnny associates the hospital with death: Aunt Flossie died there and so did Father's boss. These are but a few of the reasons why some discussion is needed, especially for boys and girls over 4 year of age.

The hospital personnel have learned that it pays to tell the small fry the truth. They are bound to cry when stuck by a needle unless they know what to expect or it is made part of a game. Many become alarmed when wheeled into the X-ray department — the room is spooky and the machines look like monsters.

Parents should remain with the youngster as long as the hospital allows. When visiting time is up leave, even though Junior puts on an act. Most children behave better when they have their favorite toy or blanket which remind them of home.

The hospital usually has an assortment of games and books and in many, volunteer workers come in to read and play with the little patients. When the day arrives for Johnny or Susie to go home, the youngsters often are sorry to have to bid goodbye to their new friends at the hospital.

GOP Higher-Ups Use Political Pull To Obtain TV Licenses For Friends

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—GOP National Chairman Len Hall isn't supposed to meddle in its business, but he has been pressuring the Federal Communications Commission to grant a multimillion-dollar TV channel to the Boston Herald and Traveler.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.), who also have nothing to do with the FCC, have added their political pressure. It now looks as if the commissioners, mostly Republican appointees, will give in.

This means they will not only overrule the FCC's veteran chief examiner, Col. James Cunningham, but will violate one of the FCC's own rules—namely, to diversify control of public channels of expression.

The Boston Herald and Traveler not only operates two big metropolitan newspapers, but also controls Boston's biggest radio station, WHDH. Now the papers are trying to add a TV station, worth an estimated $20,000,000.

In the past, the FCC has usually denied TV licenses to newspapers, especially if they already owned radio stations. Lately, however, powerful Republican papers have had amazing success with their applications. The Herald and Traveler, of course, are both Republican.

Colonel Cunningham, following FCC policy, ruled against the Herald and Traveler. His report favored two TV companies, Greater Boston TV and Massachusetts Bay Telecasters in which cartoonist Al Capp of Li'l Abner fame is a stockholder. A veteran career employee, Cunningham has been with the FCC far longer than any of the commissioners who are about to overrule him.

FCC Takes Orders

After the Herald and Traveler lost out on merits, publisher Robert Choate started pulling political strings. He came to Washington to appeal his case. He did not appeal before the FCC, but to Chairman Hall, Secretary Weeks and Saltonstall.

These three powerful Republicans have no legal voice on TV licenses. Under the law, the FCC is supposed to be an independent agency free of pressure from the White House. Its decisions mean millions of dollars to the applicant so favored. That is why Congress established a quasi-judicial agency independent of the White House.

Nevertheless, it is no secret around Washington that the present commissioners are the most politically motivated in the FCC's history.

They take their orders from Republican higher-up to such an extent that they have made a farce of the hearing system. Most of the juicy TV licenses are now handed out as political plums. In fact, the FCC has so abandoned its legal duty of upholding the public welfare that Congressmen are talking seriously of abolishing the agency.

Note—Senator Saltonstall reluctantly helped the Herald and Traveler in their application for Channel 5. The strong pressure came from Chairman Hall and Sinclair Weeks.

Adlai and Joe Louis

In Washington recently, Adlai Stevenson was being ribbed about his "future plans" by Charles Kress, a New York Republican. "One more campaign wouldn't hurt you, Governor," said Kress. "You look fit enough to take on Joe Louis."

"From all I hear, Joe Louis is through with championship bouts. So am I," replied Adlai.

Nazi Banker In Washington Herman Abs, the German banker who was a director of the Nazi-controlled Deutsche Bank under Adolf Hitler, has just entered the United States to direct the lobbying campaign for the return of German property, especially General Airline and Film.

The war-seized firm, which makes Ansco film, has been awaiting sale by the Justice Department of new American owners. Meanwhile, the former German stockholders have been fighting a delaying action in American courts until their friend, Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina, can get a bill through Congress returning all war-seized assets to Germany.

Just why Johnston suddenly got interested in German property nobody but he knows. Meanwhile, Herman Abs will direct the group lobbying for passage of the Johnston bill.

Naval Deer Hunt

The biggest naval deer hunt in history took place recently at Cheatham Naval Annex on the York River near Newport News, Va.. The admirals, plus other brass hats and later enlisted men, were turned loose in a fenced-in preserve to shoot 500 deer—under rules laid down by the Virginia State Game Commission.

What happened was that the naval supply depot, embracing about 2,200 acres of land and surrounded on three sides by a 10-foot fire fence, had collected, accidentally, about 2,000 deer. They had crossed the York River, got penned inside the Navy's property, and increased in number.

Finally, the State Game Commission advised the Navy that 500 should be killed to prevent disease and underfeeding. So the Navy declared open season between November 19 and January 5.

Deer hunting was permitted three days a week with a maximum of 20 persons per hunt. Hunters were limited to one deer per person per day, or no more than two deer per person for the season. In the end, 313 of the recommended 500 were shot.

Washington Pipeline

Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon resigned from the House Interior Committee in order to make room for her state's new representative, Al Ullman. A seat on this important committee, which passes on reclamation projects, is valuable to any representative from the Pacific Northwest. Despite this, Mrs. Green voluntarily switched to an unglamorous post on the House Administration Committee in deference to a friend, though she remains on the House Education and Labor Committee. . . . Ex-Air Force Secretary Harold Talbot once stated that the atomic plane was the Air Force's most vital project. He said it would be disastrous should the Russians build the first atomic bomber, capable of staying aloft almost indefinitely. Despite this, Secretary of Defense Wilson has cut the budget for the atomic bomber in half—which means that the first supersonic atomic plane will be delayed five years.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

The three major menaces to married romance are nagging, jealousy and snoring. So says a commentator on life among the married. Why include snoring in this group? Nobody snores purposely. It is an affliction A romance that can be shattered because one of the persons concerned snores cannot be much of a love affair. Some snoring can be cured. If not, the solution for a married couple is separate rooms. I have been reliably informed that several of the most beautiful film stars are habitual snorers.

GET IT RIGHT

Criticizing dramatic critics, a contemporary says, "Every dramatic critic in New York turned thumbs down on 'Abie's Irish Rose' and predicted a speedy failure for it." That's an erroneous statement. That great and discerning drama critic, Alexander Woolcott, predicted "Abie's Irish Rose" would succeed. So did Alan Dale.

MAKING THE GRADE

How are you doing? If not so well, perhaps you are in the wrong activity. It took many successful people much time to find out the field to which their talents were best suited. Mme. Patachou ran a shoe shop in Paris. Her husband owned an antique shop. Both these ventures failed. So the Patachous joined hands in business and opened a small pastry shop on the Montmartre. There, in a spirit of gaiety, Mme. Patachou frequently sang for the customers. Maurice Chevalier heard her and advised her to turn professional. She did. Patachou has already made about a million dollars as a singer and is still going strong.

ASKING Queries from clients. Q. How about the success of a marriage, according to the stargazers, of a blonde, blue-eyed Aquarius male and a red-haired, caramel-eyed Scorpio female? A. The stargazers ignore eye and hair coloring in their findings. That I view as a weakness in their operations. However, I will have the case you refer to checked by our Horses and Women experts with all factors taken into consideration. But, by the way, what is a "caramel-eyed" redhead? We do not seem to have that type listed in our Horses and Women files.

NO TIPS

The New York restaurant chain with which the erstwhile Dodger star, Jackie Robinson, will be associated in an executive capacity has a "No tipping" policy. This policy is strictly adhered to. If a waitress is given a tip, she hands it back to the customer. The service is good. The employees seem satisfied. So it reveals that a "no tipping" restaurant can succeed.

SPINSTERS

At what age should an unmarried female be considered a spinster? As to this, there seems to be a difference of opinion. According to the London Society of Spinsters, a woman who has never been a bride gets into the spinster class at the age of 28. In Paris, that group of single women known as the "Catherinettes," adhere to the belief that a female who has not married becomes a spinster at the age of 25.

Moorefield To Be Site Of Class B Cage Tournament

Five Schools Vie For Title In Section 15

Sanders Is Added; Tournament Begins Thursday, Feb. 28

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Jan. 23 — Moorefield High School was selected to be the site of the Region 4, Section 15 Class B basketball tournament which will begin on Thursday, February 28. The Hardy County school was selected by a 3-1 vote at a sectional meeting held today at the institution to prepare plans for the state basketball tourney. Both Moorefield and Petersburg had extended invitations to the tournament committee for the games.

John A. Mathias, principal of Moorefield High School, was elected director of the tournament and G. C. "Chick" Charlton of the Moorefield Examiner was named secretary.

Mathias Presides
Mathias presided at today's session at which Moorefield, Petersburg, Mathias High Circleville and Sanders of Moorefield were represented. Sanders will be a newcomer in the Section 15 tournament this year.

The tournament games will begin at 7:15 p. m. with a twin bill scheduled each of the three-day sessions through March 2. At a drawing held today Sanders High drew a bye in the opening round. Petersburg's Vikings and Circleville will clash in the 7:15 p. m. opener and Mathias will meet Moorefield in the 9 o'clock clash on February 28.

Two Losers Clash
On Friday, March 1, the two losers on the opening night will meet in the 7:15 p. m. opener to decide which will go to the consolation round. At 9 o'clock the winner of the Circleville-Petersburg game on Thursday will play Sanders.

Capon Bridge Loses PVC Contest, 86-56

ROMNEY, W. Va., Jan. 23 — West Virginia School for Deaf's rampaging scoring twins, Gene Smith and Charles Buemi, racked up 67 points between them as they paced the undefeated Lions to their ninth consecutive triumph here tonight over Capon Bridge, 86-56.

The area's only unbeaten five made it 6-0 in the Potomac Valley Conference with the easy triumph, putting Coach Malcolm Norwood's Lions in first place in the circuit. Only Berkeley Springs' Indians with a 5-0 mark remains without a loss in the conference.

After a fairly close initial period last night's league game was strictly "no contest" as Smith banged home 16 field goals and 37 points while Buemi picked up 15 goals for 30 tallies. The victors, despite using a substitute team the latter part of the game, tallied 36 points in the final quarter.

The win gave the Deaf cagers a sweep of their series with Capon Bridge, the Romney quint having capped the opener, 63-60.

Capon Bridge, which snapped Hedgesville's 10-game winning skein on Tuesday, was no match for the Lions and dropped their sixth decision in 12 starts. Thorn was high point man for the losers with 18 tallies.

In the preliminary game the Deaf school's Jayvees defeated the Capon Bridge junior varsity, 29-20.

Planned Effort Got Wilt For Kansas Quint

Prominent Negroes Helped Land Stilt

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—An organized recruiting campaign, using influential Kansas Negroes, induced 7-foot Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain to play basketball for the University of Kansas, Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen said today in a Life magazine article.

Allen, retired Kansas coach, said he had enlisted the aid of such prominent Kansas Negro graduates as Dowd Davis, general manager of the Kansas City Call; concert singer Etta Moten, and businessman Lloyd Kerford to show Wilt "how successful the Negro in Kansas was."

"Of course I used everything we had to get him. What do you think I am, a Sunday School teacher?" Allen told an interviewer.

Chamberlain, sought by about 100 colleges after a brilliant schoolboy basketball career at Philadelphia's Overbrook High, received a stream of letters, phone calls and visits during the spring of 1955 telling about the advantages of Kansas.

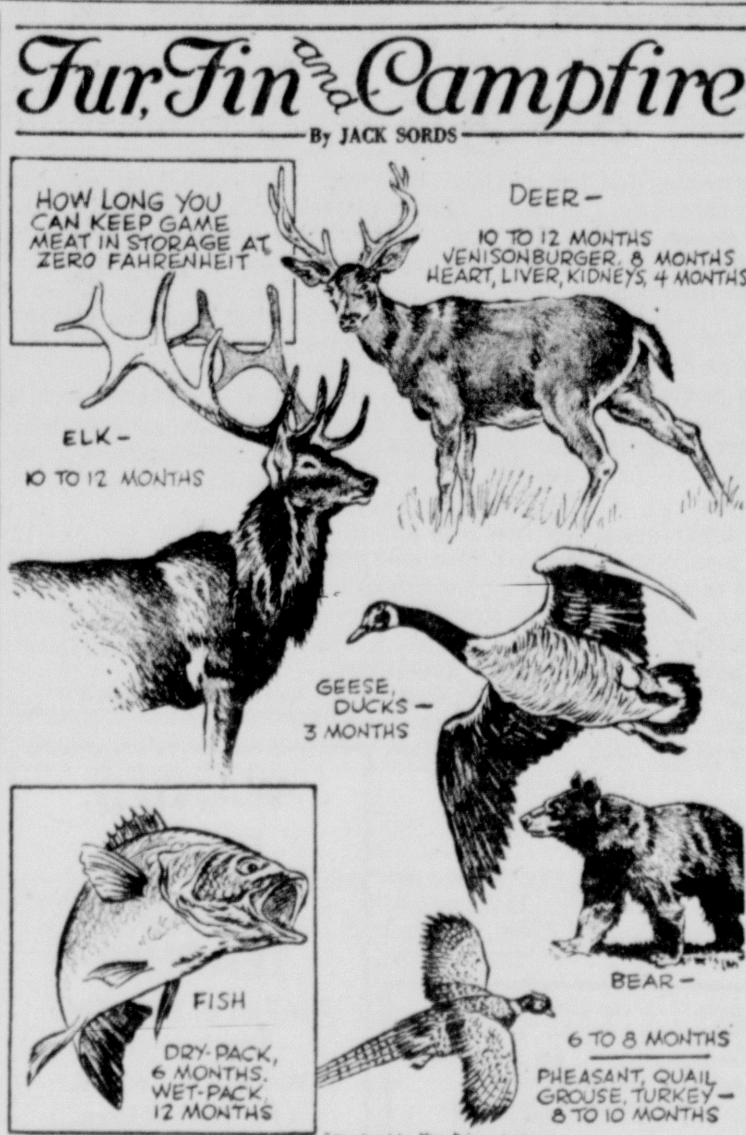

Finally Allen paid the family a visit. "I always heard of the mother. I'm a mama's guy," he explained.

Asked about rumors of under-the-table deals, Allen said: "Let's be realistic. Until 1946 I never had any help. Then alumni started to sweeten the pot. Well, I heard another coach charged us with giving Wilt $5,000. Well, if he charges $5,000—and he's sore about it—why then that must mean someone was dickering for less."

In Lawrence today, Allen said "no one needs to infer that Wilt is getting anything under the table. I know of no such arrangement and I don't think there is any."

"I simply said if some of these other coaches or alumni are claiming Wilt is getting $5,000 it must be because they offered him something and didn't get it."

Chamberlain receives standard athletic aid—board, room, tuition and books, plus $15 monthly for selling football programs and sweeping the stadium.

Green To Oppose Low Hoad Today

MELBOURNE, Jan. 23 (AP)—Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla. gets his hoped for chance against Australia's Low Hoad tomorrow in the quarter-finals of the Australian National Tennis Championships.

Green, 19, a student at the University of California, is the last Yank remaining in the tournament.

Green advanced to the quarter-final match against Hoad, the No. 1 seed, with a straight-set upset of eighth-seeded Bob Howe Tuesday. Shirley Fry of Akron and Althea Gibson of New York advanced to the semifinals of the women's championships today. Miss Fry disposed of Mary Hawton of Australia 6-1, 9-7, and Miss Gibson defeated Australia's Doris Southam 6-1, 6-3.

Here, too, are the current year's tournament winners, Ed Furgol, who grabbed the $2,000 prize fund in the Caliente Open, Doug Ford, and Jay Hebert.

Also receiving bids were Byron Nelson, making one of his rare competitive appearances, and former U.S. Open champion Julius Boros.

Cerv, purchased from the New York Yankees last fall, is the 15th player to agree to terms with the Kansas City American League club. In 54 games with the Yankees last season, he hit .304.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Big Walt Droppo, who must brush off three rivals at first base this season, today came to 1957 terms with the Chicago White Sox. He was the American League's best defensive first sacker in 1956, shading Yankee Bill Skowron, .9934 to .9933. Droppo wound up with a .266 batting average last season after gaining regular status late in July. New Sox Manager Al Lopez has indicated Droppo, who in 1955 hit .280 and drove across 79 runs, must win the first base job this spring from Jim Marshall, Ron Jackson and a newcomer, Norman Larker.

SPORTS GRILL by Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (INS)—All ball clubs know from bitter experience what it means to make bum deals. Hence, their reluctance to make trades which on the surface at least appear to be naturals.

A ball club may give up on a diamond in the rough only to see the kid acquire polish and stardom with another outfit.

Casey Stengel is supposed to have a keen sure eye for a budding star but that same Stengel, when managing Brooklyn, once chased Phil Rizzuto out of the ball park and told the youngster he was too small ever to be a ball-player.

That same Rizzuto years later was to be a main cog in the New York Yankee machine that won several pennants for Stengel.

The Boston Red Sox have needed a shortstop for years, but they let Peeewe Reese go to the Dodgers.

Sometimes a club figures a ball player is all washed up and lets him go too soon. Both the New York Giants and Cleveland made this mistake with Sal Maglie, and you know what he did for the Dodgers last season.

Again a club may be afraid to take a chance on a player who has a trick knee. Many clubs refused to take a chance on Joe DiMaggio until the Yanks gambled $25,000 on him.

Both the Yankees and Washington Senators gave up on Jackie Jensen, now a Red Sox star. The Dodgers surely needed a third baseman and they once owned George Kell, one of the greatest.

Sometimes a player goes along for years before finding himself. The Yanks, Indians and St. Louis Browns all gave up on Sherman Lollar, now one of the best catchers in the American League for Chicago.

Connie Mack once tossed in Nellie Fox as part of a deal for a White Sox catcher who never amounted to much, and Nellie is still a star at second base.

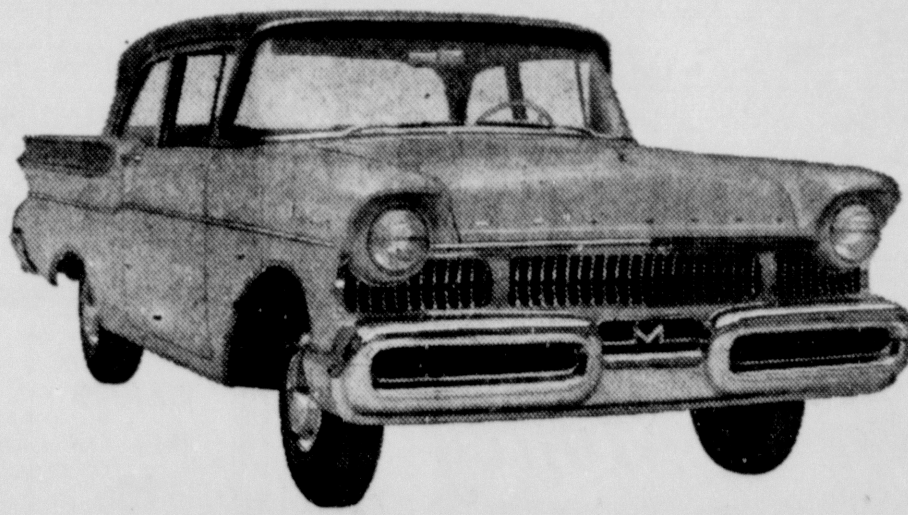

The top southpaw of the National League last year was Johnny Antonelli, once owned by the Milwaukee Braves.

Will your chance to buy those things you so deeply desire vanish like a shadow for lack of cash? Or are you accumulating a substantial reserve now? An endowment policy builds up savings and gives protection, too. Ask how little it costs.

Pence Outlines Importance Of Physical Ed

Meets With Faculty At Beall School

FROSTBURG — Robert Pence, supervisor of physical education with the Allegany County Board of Education, met with the faculty of Beall Elementary School Tuesday evening and discussed physical education objectives and the characteristics and needs of pupils in the elementary schools.

Pence stated the objectives to be physical, moral or social, mental or emotional. He said that in helping the child to develop through physical activity, an analysis of the characteristics and needs of the youngster at different ages is necessary. He noted that the teacher must work with, rather than against nature to attain good results.

He further stated that on the playground as well as in the classroom, numerous points may be observed that will assist the teacher in carrying out the physical education program efficiently and with maximum benefit to all of the pupils. The playground period should be planned thoroughly, keeping a record of activities taught, and adapting games to the prevailing ground and weather conditions. The teacher should endeavor to develop respect for game officials and watch closely for waning interest on the part of the pupils when this occurs, a new activity should be substituted at once. Pence suggested that the teacher play with the children if possible and avoid games where children are eliminated. Many more helpful suggestions were given the teachers by Mr. Pence.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23—(INS)—When you think that Karl Malden discovered Tony Perkins and developed him into his present status of one of our most popular young actors, you can't ignore Karl's new protegee. This boy sounds as if he might have been named by Henry Willson. He's called Rip Torn, and Karl has put Rip into "Time Limit," which Karl directs with Richard Widmark as the star.

Karl also says that he is talking a deal to star himself in a play written by Mrs. Elia Kazan titled "The Egghead," which he will do on Broadway with Hume Cronyn directing. I'd like to see Karl again do something I could applaud him for as I did "On The Waterfront."

For the first time, motion pictures and TV lock horns directly with the CBS announcement that Playhouse 90 producer Martin Manulis will bring "The Helen Morgan Story" to television in April before Warner Brothers are ready with their Helen Morgan movie, "The Jazz Age."

"How can you put the Morgan story on television before Warner gets out with the picture?" I asked Martin. He explained that Warners had not obtained the TV rights when they bought the film rights. "We were able to get the TV rights directly from Mrs. Lulu Morgan, Helen's mother, who comes to the coast to supervise," he told me.

Will be interesting to see the outcome. Could be the Warner film will be helped by the video show. Ann Blyth, star of the film, will not do the TV version.

When is a honeymoon not a honeymoon? When the bride doesn't go along—and that's exactly what's happening when New York model Carlyn Frantz marries Frankie D'Amore on Feb. 3. The next day the bridegroom takes off for Australia with Frank Sinatra's troupe and the bride can't go because the entertainers aren't allowed to bring wives!

Oh, well, Carlyn can enjoy her wedding day because one of the most conspicuous guests will be Elvis Presley. He's steady dating the bride's roommate, Doty.

Draft Boards Get Induction Calls

Fahey said he also received calls for 21 other registrants to report for physical examinations prior to induction into the armed forces.

Board 27 has been ordered to send six for induction as has Board 28, while Board 29 is to furnish four registrants.

Scheduled to report for the physical examinations are nine from Board 27, seven from Board 28 and five from Board 29.

The two groups will leave for the Fairmont, W. Va., induction center at 7 a. m. Thursday, February 14, Fahey stated.

Officials Disagree On Re-Licensing

Legislators Hear Pro And Con Arguments On Driving Measure

BY HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 23 (P)—Two major state agencies collided before the House Judiciary Committee today on a controversial bill to require re-examination of Maryland drivers every three years.

State Police blew the whistle on it as an ineffective means of promoting traffic safety. The Department of Motor Vehicles, with a boost from the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, argued for it.

Maj. William H. Weber, field force commander of the State Police, said records of his department indicate the bill would involve "an awful lot of trouble for the little it would accomplish" in traffic safety.

He doubted seriously it would achieve what its sponsors hoped for and would require an outlay of state money (estimated at 1 1/4 million dollars) that could be better used in a more direct attack on the small percentage of drivers who cause accidents.

County Needs Will Be Probed In Annapolis

Will Discuss Sewers, College

Two widely different Allegany County needs—the George's Creek sewage problem and the lack of a fully accredited four-year college in Western Maryland—will be discussed by Senator Charles M. See and the County Delegation with state officials at two meetings in Annapolis today.

Francis Philpot, representing the Shaft Volunteer Fire Company, appeared last month before Senator See and the six county members of the House of Delegates to ask them to take action with the State Health Department to see what can be done to keep the George's Creek communities from dumping raw sewage in that stream.

Sensor See and the six delegates will meet at 10 a. m. today with George L. Hall of the State Health Department to discuss what steps can be taken to improve conditions in the George's Creek area.

Then, at 2:30 p. m. today, the seven representatives of Allegany County will confer with John J. Seidel, assistant state superintendent of schools for vocational education, on the proposal of the Western Maryland section of the American Chemical Society for a fully-accredited four-year liberal arts college in Cumberland.

A few days ago, the Western Maryland section sent a letter to the State Board of Education about the additional college needs here. Copies also were sent to the Allegany County delegation, the Garrett County delegation, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

YMCA To Hold 82d Annual Meet Tonight

The 82d annual dinner and meeting of Central Young Men's Christian Association will be held this evening at 6:15 in the Y, with Duard H. Little, manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, as guest speaker. Mr. Little's subject will be "The Business of Youth."

The guest speaker came here last July, when he succeeded O. B. Case as local plant manager. He formerly served with the Department of Defense in Europe as a consultant with the Facilities Assistance Program to the NATO countries.

Harold D. Barber, president of the Central YMCA and an official at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company plant here, will introduce Mr. Little.

Rev. Maurice Robertson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church and a member of the YMCA board, will offer the invocation and benediction.

Baylies U. Smith, new general secretary at the Y, will be introduced and results of the election of the new YMCA board of directors will be announced.

Dinner will be served by the YMCA Ladies Auxiliary.

Delegates Get Towns' Waste Disposal Plan

Parties Discuss Proposed Bill

Proposed legislation to enable the communities of Westernport, Luke and Piedmont to join in the waste disposal project of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was presented to Senator Charles M. See and the County Delegation in the House of Delegates at a meeting last night in Senate Room 1 in Annapolis.

Sensor See termed the meeting "very agreeable," but emphasized that he and the six delegates did not commit themselves on the bill.

Earl E. Manges, who is acting as special attorney for the Tri-Towns in this matter, said the proposed legislation would give the Upper Potomac River Commission authority to set up a system of sewage disposal for the communities.

The three towns would tie in with the $3,000,000 waste treatment plant to be built soon by the Luke mill on an island in the Potomac River below Westernport. The three towns would assume only about four per cent of the cost of the plant and this cost would be financed through revenue bonds which would be retired from proceeds of the operation in a 40-year period.

At a meeting Tuesday with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, Mr. Manges said he understood that most of the odor would be absent after the sewage and waste treatment plant is placed in operation.

Included in a delegation of about 20 at the meeting were Mayor Rodney Baker of Piedmont and his commissioners, Mayor Okey E. Michael of Westernport and his commissioners and Mayor James E. Duckworth of Luke and his commissioners, John A. Luke, manager of the Luke mill; Richard Emory of Baltimore, attorney for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and Owen E. Hitchens, chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission.

Sensor See commented after the two-and-one-half hour meeting that in the next few years the federal and state governments will require all communities to provide sewage disposal facilities.

Cold Snap Expected To Stay

Temperatures from five to 10 degrees above zero were expected in the westernmost part of Maryland early this morning and the weatherman promises the cold snap will continue in the general area.

Unofficially the temperature had dipped to about 24 above here last night.

Up in Oakland the thermometer showed a temperature reading of 10 above zero and according to Ralph E. Weber, official weather observer there, the mercury possibly would dip to the zero mark.

Mr. Weber said wind had been blowing in that area during the day, but last night the storm had died down. Skies were clear, an indication that the mercury could possibly drop to zero.

About half an inch of snow was on the ground in sections of Garrett County, including Oakland. Today should be a little milder, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau, which forecast the possible chance of snow late in the day.

A high around 20 is forecast today in the west portion of the state. A few flurries of snow put in their appearance here about 5:15 p. m. yesterday and the wind was rather brisk.

Parent Discussion Group Has Meeting

The Parent Discussion Group of Centre Street School met Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bowman, North Mechanic Street. Miss Esther Carter, visiting teacher, led the discussion on "Getting Along with Brothers and Sisters."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Homer Robey. Others present were Mr. Thomas Wagner, principal, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Plummer, Mrs. Catherine Kilroy, Mrs. John Shober Jr., and Mrs. Robert Webster.

To Discuss Hobbies

Porcelain and ceramics as a hobby will be discussed by Mrs. Ernest A. Lindsay at the meeting of the American Home Group of the Woman's Civic Club this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the club house.

Will Attend Meeting

These two prominent officers will attend the annual meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory Board at 6:30 p. m. Friday at Central YMCA. Brigadier Earl Lord, left, of Baltimore, divisional secretary, will install new officers and induct new board members. The officers are Lewis J. Ort, chairman; Thomas B. Finan, vice chairman; Carl Amtower, re-elected secretary, and Albert Macy, treasurer. Lt. Col. Ernest Pickering, right, of Richmond, Va., will be the principal speaker at the Dutch-treat dinner.

Mothers March Workers Announced For LaVale

Volunteers who will solicit funds in the March of Dimes drive Mothers March on the night of January 29 in the LaVale area, have been announced by Mrs. Gilbert P. Bohn and Mrs. W. Edward Solomon, co-chairmen.

The women, all volunteers, are members of the LaVale Century Club. They have one of the largest areas in the county to cover, and since many of the streets of LaVale are poorly lighted, a special request has been made that all residents turn on their porch and outside lights, to light the way for the mothers and to make a contribution when they call. The women indicate they hope to set a record in this fast-growing suburban area.

The membership - nominating committee of the Cumberland Girl Scout Council has announced its slate of candidates for council officers and board members, according to Theodore P. Foote, committee chairman.

The annual election of the council will be held Thursday, January 31 at 6:30 p. m. at Central Methodist Church, South George Street, at the annual council dinner meeting.

Guest speaker at the dinner will be Ross Decker, representing the Potomac Council Boy Scouts, who will discuss development of campsites. His subject is of interest to all adult scout leaders since the Girl Scout Council has purchased a new scout campsite near Flintstone. Mr. Decker was chairman of the committee which developed the Boy Scout camp near Oldtown.

At the annual meeting, a president's report will be given by Mrs. Ralph C. Isminger, who has held that office the past two years.

Wins Carnegie Medal: Frostburg Man Honored For Saving Local Boy

Ray D. Stott, 28-year-old Frostburg resident, has been cited by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission of Pittsburgh for his action in saving a nine-year-old local schoolboy from drowning May 26, 1956 in Wills Creek.

Stott, who is employed as a butcher at Wolfe's Abattoir, 724 North Mechanic Street, was awarded a bronze medal by the commission for saving the life of Ronald Yalder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Yalder, 316 Bond Street.

When contacted by telephone last night at his home, 174 First Street, Frostburg, Stott, said he felt honored and "flabbergasted."

Stott recalled that the young schoolboy was fishing from a sloped concrete retaining wall at the bottom of an eight-foot vertical wall along the creek when he slipped into the water. The boy couldn't swim.

Stott, at work on the opposite side of the creek, heard that a boy was drowning, and without removing his high rubber boots he leaped about 25 feet into the creek, swam 75 feet over to a hole in the creek bed, where the undertow pulled him under.

He wriggled out of his boots and trousers and surfaced. Then he swam 50 feet farther to where Ronald had disappeared. On his second dive, Stott brought Ronald to the top, and towed the unconscious youngster some 30 feet to the sloped wall, where he revived him.

Then he climbed the sloped wall and the vertical wall and over a steel fence with the lad. Ronald, who again had lost consciousness, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in the City Police cruiser by Officer J. Carl Stouffer.

One of Stott's legs has a metal plate in it and his leg was re-injured in the life-saving incident. At the age of five, Stott had injured his leg when he was struck by an auto in Frostburg and was hospitalized for a year.

The commission awarded bronze medals to 19 persons yesterday for heroism. The commission was established by the industrialist and philanthropist, Andrew Carnegie, to honor men and women who perform acts of heroism.

Four of those cited yesterday lost their own lives in performing heroic deeds. The medals went to five residents of Massachusetts, three in California, three in Wisconsin, one each in Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Montana, Florida, Wyoming, Maryland, Oregon and Canada.

Driver Hurt As Big Truck Upsets

A 36-year-old Oldtown truck driver leaped to safety yesterday morning after a tractor-tanker, loaded with fuel oil, went out of control east of Cumberland on U. S. Route 40 and plunged down over an embankment.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital was Douglas D. Deffenbaugh, who was X-rayed and reported in "good" condition last night.

He was reported to have suffered a back injury as well as lacerations and contusions of his right arm when he leaped from the cab of the vehicle.

Maryland State Police, who said the accident occurred five and a half miles east of the city about 11 a. m. yesterday, reported that Deffenbaugh was descending a grade when the brakes apparently failed, on the west slope of the mountain.

After leaping from the cab, the tractor-tanker ran off to the right of the highway and plunged about 50 feet down an embankment.

Police said that Deffenbaugh is a driver for the Garland Petroleum Company of Roberts Street, city. Investigating officer was Tpr. Carlton Lewis.

Second Motel In City Planned

A second motel within the city limits of Cumberland will be constructed for Lee Marple at 231 North Centre Street.

Marple obtained a building permit yesterday from the City Engineer's office for the six or eight unit motel which will be constructed across Centre Street from his jewelry and television store. Herman Hoff will build the 25 by 50 foot motel on the lot which formerly was a service station. The estimated cost is $12,000.

Several years ago Charles Paul Roeder built the first motel within the city limits on North George Street.

Local Man Hurt In Fire At State Hospital

SYKESVILLE, Md., Jan. 23 (P)—Three patients were burned, one critically, today in a flash fire at Springfield State Hospital here.

Dr. Robert E. Gardner, superintendent, said the fire occurred about 2 p. m. in a repair shop in the basement of the industrial shop. A workman was melting floor wax on a hot plate which was kicked over by one of the patients. Dr. Gardner said.

Robert McGoe, 55, was taken to University Hospital in Baltimore where he was reported in critical condition with burns over 70 per cent of his body.

Daniel Pownell, 55, of Cumberland, and Oscar Doolan, 46, of Washington, were treated at the scene for minor burns of the face and hands.

LaVale Zoning Bill Action Planned Soon

No Hearing Yet Requested

SB 118, the bill to authorize the LaVale Sanitary Commission to adopt a plan of zoning regulations affecting land use in the LaVale Sanitary District, will be moved out of committee next Wednesday for passage unless Senator Charles M. See gets a request for a hearing on the bill in the meantime.

Sensor See, who introduced SB 118 at the request of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, said that he has received only one communication opposing the zoning bill. That was from a private citizen, he said.

Some 150 residents of LaVale attended a meeting at the Fire Hill Friday, January 11, to get an explanation of the provisions of the bill.

At that meeting Walter J. Hedrick, president of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, reported that the association was interested in zoning as well as other community improvements such as street lights and signs.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners last summer gave the LaVale Sanitary Commission the green light in its move to get zoning in most of Election District 29 in order to protect property values in that fast-growing suburban area.

Basically, all LaVale land would be divided into three basic categories—business, residential and unrestricted. Existing businesses would not be affected by zoning. They would be non-conforming uses.

Produce Firm Is Purchased By Baer Bros.

Baer Brothers Inc., of Hagerstown, wholesale produce firm, has taken over Potomac Produce at 167 Bedford Street. The local branch will be known as Baer Brothers.

Kenneth Witmer, who worked as a traveling salesman for 10 years with Baer Brothers, has taken over as manager of the local branch, succeeding John Deetz, who is now employed by a produce firm at Altoona, Pa.

Local workers will remain in the employ of the firm, according to Mr. Witmer, who said facilities are being prepared to handle frozen foods here.

Most of the produce is shipped to Cumberland by rail from California and Florida, although some is hauled by truck from Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

The area serviced by the local branch includes Cumberland, the Georges Creek area, the Tri-Towns, Romney and Paw Paw, W. Va., and Hyndman, Pa. In the near future the local firm plans to place a fifth truck in operation to cover a territory in the Bedford and Everett, Pa. area.

Baer Brothers serves various points in Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia. The Potomac Produce had been in operation here since about 1927.

The liturgy will be conducted by the youths of the congregation and officers of the Youth Fellowship will be installed by the pastor.

Tulsa Choir To Sing Here Tonight

The Tulsa University Choir, shown here in rehearsal, will sing tonight at 8 o'clock at Allegany High School auditorium, under sponsorship of Ali Ghan Shrine Temple. Ticket sales for the concert have been good, according to Charles U. Wiebel, Shrine recorder, but adult and student tickets are still available at Mr. Wiebel's office at the Shrine City Club, or from individual members of the Shrine. The 38-voice choir combines costume and pantomime with its singing.
